

END THE EXCEPTION

Worth Rises and Mural Arts of Philadelphia are proud to announce a national campaign to #EndTheException in the 13th Amendment of the US Constitution which still allows slavery as punishment for crime. In Georgia, local partners All of Us or None and the Cabbagetown Initiative will cooperate to help select an artist, and empower them to install an outdoor mural that explores personal experiences with respect to liberty, strength, and self determination.

We are seeking imaginative persons who have overcome adversity within systems of incarceration. Artists will have the creative freedom to design a mural that speaks to their own experiences, using their own voice. Creativity and passion will prove more valuable than previous technical experience, and ALL enthusiastic persons are encouraged to apply!

Special consideration will be given to those amplifying marginalized voices, and candidates should be flexible with the design process to reach a broader audience. The curator will listen and collaborate on strategies to communicate these complex themes and develop successful methods to share ideas.

APPLICATION FORM:
